Adelsheim Vineyard was founded in 1971 and is still family- and Oregon-owned. We create remarkable Pinot noir and Chardonnay wines with most of the grapes now coming from our ten estate vineyards in the Chehalem Mountains. The variations in the vineyard soils, elevations and mesoclimates give us important differences in ripening times and in the flavors, tannins, sugars and acidities of the grapes. Our wines always taste of their place. In the winery we are guided by traditional techniques and non-intervention, but we are also not afraid of experimentation to achieve our high goals. We were part of the founding of Oregon's wine industry and are still industry leaders, aiming to bring Oregon wines to the world while championing the traditions of collaboration and a focus on quality that have always been the hallmarks of the Willamette Valley wine community. Argyle has been farming vineyards and making fine wine in the Willamette Valley since 1987. What began as a conviction to grow world class sparkling wine expanded to an ambition to build a legacy with long-aging wines, be it Sparkling wine, Riesling, Chardonnay or Pinot noir. Argyle has deep roots in the community, and a commitment to the long-term health of the land and the Oregon wine industry.

In 2006 we moved to Oregon from Napa, where Brian had been working in wine for ten years. We bought property in the Willamette Valley (about an hour outside of Portland). We started with a dream and made our first 150 cases in 2006. This Oregon adventure is inspired by our desire to grow grapes, make wine, and to have the space for all of Clare's animals and Brian's projects. We named our farm and winery after our goal to provide a gracious and welcoming table for ourselves and friends, with a cornucopia of hand-crafted food and wine. And now, just over ten years after we took the leap, we have developed this land into a working farm and built a barn and winery. We feel lucky to live here and we are still in awe and deeply grateful for the chance to build this dream and share it with you!

Founded in 1992, the Cristom Vineyards Estate spans nearly 240 acres in Oregon's Eola-Amity Hills, which we farm utilizing biodynamic principles. Second-generation owner and winegrower Tom Gerrie leads winemaker Steve Doerner and our tenured production and vineyard teams in crafting elegant, dynamic wines that are a testament to both our old world-style winemaking techniques, and our stewardship of the Cristom Estate. All of our Pinot noirs include whole cluster fermentation by native yeasts, are unfiltered, and are handled minimally during the winemaking process, allowing the purity of our land to shine through.

Elk Cove Vineyards has been producing wines from Oregon's Northern Willamette Valley since 1974. While our focus is on Pinot noir, we also champion other grape varieties that thrive in our cool climate: Pinot gris, Pinot blanc, Riesling and Chardonnay. At our historic winery property in the Yamhill-Carlton AVA, we utilize hand-sorting, small-lot fermentation and extremely gentle handling to protect the inherent qualities of our fruit. Elk Cove owns and farms vineyards across six distinct, separate properties. Through specific site selection and meticulous vine management, we achieve concentration and depth of flavor in the vineyard. In addition to our Willamette Valley Pinot noir, we produce Single Vineyard Pinot noirs from each of our six estate properties, reflecting the terroir of both the Chehalem Mountains and the Yamhill-Carlton AVAs. These bottlings are typically from older vines, and -we hope- truly tell the story of each vineyard site: Mt. Richmond, La Bohème, Roosevelt, Goodrich, Clay Court and Five Mountain.

When it comes to American Pinot noir, few possess the rich history and experience of Ponzi Vineyards, one of Oregon's pioneering wineries. The winery was founded in 1970 by Dick and Nancy Ponzi, who realized the Willamette Valley met every need of noble, cool-climate grape varieties. Ponzi Vineyards was recognized early on as a premier producer of Pinot noir and instrumental in putting Oregon on the map as a world class wine region. This tradition of excellence is carried on with second-generation winemaker Luisa Ponzi and president Anna Maria Ponzi at the helm for the past 25 years. Moving ever forward, the winery continues to be a leader in Pinot noir and Chardonnay innovation and remains at the forefront of American wine, as one of Oregon's legendary producers.
